We feel it especially appropriate to dedicate this golden anniversary yearbook, with deep affection and appreciation, to Miss Pauline Changnon; who has tirelessly drilled French into the heads of Uni High students for 36 years.

administration

A significant administrative change during the 1966-1967 school year was the scheduling of an eight-period day; each period consisting of fifty minutes. This enables students to take extra elective courses such as Humanities and Journalism, or have an extra study hall. Dr. Beberman, long-time director of the mathematics project, became director of the entire curriculum lab this year.

Dr. Max Beberman, director of University of Illinois Curriculum Laboratory, and teacher of Math IV.

Dr. Wilfred L. Shoemaker, principal.

Mr. Robert G. Carlier, assistant principal and sponsor of Finance Committee.

Mr. William Golden, administrative assistant to Dr. Beberman.

school history

This is University High School's 50th anniversary yearbook. In celebrating the 50th anniversary of Uni High, you have to be very careful to designate exactly what it is you are celebrating. Uni High as we know it in the school year of 1966-1967 had some pretty mixed beginnings at some fairly widely spaced points in time. What we actually celebrate this year is the 50th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the present building.

The actual beginning of Uni High was in 1882, when a preparatory class for older students who needed some extra preparation before entering a college or university was started in the basement of University Hall; located where the Illini Union now stands. This class was taught by five college professors for one year. The directors of the University regretted that a longer preparatory course could not be administered without having a separate building and faculty, which was thought to be too expensive.

In 1917 the ground for the present building was broken, but the original purpose of the building was to provide facilities for the physical education department. It didn't become a high school until 1924. The high school was founded exclusively to present an opportunity for practice teaching. The subjects offered included Greek, Latin, math, English and a general geography course. The teachers were involved in experimental materials much the same as today.

The subfreshman program was introduced at Uni in 1933. There was a tuition fee at the time and classes were small because the space was limited. Through the years many have proposed that Uni either be opened to all students or abolished. The school has weathered these criticisms and remains selective in its admissions policy.

There have been several reasons for this policy of choosing students on the basis of academic ability. In the beginning the school was envisioned as a special college preparatory effort for people with educational gaps – but who of course were expected to possess college ability.

Today, with the emphasis on curriculum development, it is felt that brighter students will be less damaged by experiment failures, and will also give more rapid feedback so programs can be more easily evaluated.

For the students, however, all this is of minor concern. To most of us, Uni is pretty much what high school is to all students – a place where we meet friends; where we go to dances, basketball games, plays and concerts – and even manage to study now and then. It's a place where we try to build a basic foundation for whatever our later usefulness to society is – although it's safe to say we rarely if ever think of it in such high-flown terms.

What of the next 50 years? Probably the only thing it is safe to say about them is that they will no doubt be a lot different than we expect. We only hope that students in the class of 2017 look at us with as much affection and good humor (while we laughed at their clothes, we hope the laughs were gentle) as we have looked at our predecessors here.

Mrs. Muriel Hesse helps Jim Lawrence with his art project.

Mrs. Joyce Curtis teaches personal and commercial typing.

Mrs. Elaine Montgomery teaches the afternoon art classes and sponsors Bulletin Boards.

the arts

The art room was enlarged to provide space for STAG sets and an increased number of student art projects. The subfreshman boys' corporation Unilex, produced hammer boards in the shop, which were sold for $2.00 apiece, while the subfreshman girls' home ec class went on several field trips and saw meat cutting demonstrations. The music appreciation class also went on a field trip to an opera at the assembly hall.

Miss Linda Lou Lucht prepares lesson plans for her subfreshman Home Economics class.

Two subfreshmen receive some pointers from Mr. Ronald Lutz, who teaches sub Industrial Arts and voluntary advanced students.

Miss Marcia Swengel talks to a sub as they wait for the bus to the opera, "La Boheme."

Mr. Mitchell Ludwinski, Tri Hi sponsor, hurries to one of his Russian classes.

Mr. Dan Williams grades student participation in his French I and II classes.

German teacher and Senior class sponsor, Mr. David Pease pauses between shots as he photographs his classes.

languages

The head of the language department, Miss Chagnon was involved in an automobile accident and was hospitalized for two months. During this time two temporary teachers, Mr. Williams and Mrs. Alsberg taught Miss Chagnon's classes. Several new language programs were started this year. Byron Bekaires, Latin teacher, started a program to teach multi-sensory Latin I. Also Mr. Pease has developed an independent German studies program for students who have completed at least two years of another language.

Mrs. Constance Curtain, Russian teacher.

Mrs. Jane Alsberg prepares a tape for her French III class.

Mr. Byron Bekaires, Latin teacher and Fall Project sponsor, demonstrates his new teaching methods.

Miss Pauline Chagnon, head of the language department and French teacher, monitors a lab session.

Mrs. Carol Unzicker, French teacher and Fall Project sponsor.

guidance and counseling

The guidance and counseling department is frequented by students who may wish to unload their problems, discuss plans for college, take the Kuder Preference Record to find out what their real interests are or receive SAT and ACT scores.

Miss Alice Cook, student records clerk and guidance secretary.

Mr. Glen H. Maw, junior class sponsor and student counselor.

Mr. David Campbell, sponsor of lounge committee, rehearses for the annual surprise party.

Mrs. Val Leemon, aesthetics project secretary.

aesthetics

The newest department in Uni is aesthetics, which is offering a one semester Humanities course this year. In addition to this they have tried to help the lounge committee redecorate the student lounge.

Mrs. Hallie Lemon distributes papers to her Freshman English class.

Dr. Levy, chairman of the English department and sponsor of S.T.A.G.

Mrs. Marlene Gehring, English project secretary.

english

This year's English department is focusing its interest in reorganizing the subfreshman program. Dr. Levy, chairman of the English project has developed an aesthetic program which is incorporated into the present English program.

Mrs. Diane Steinburg, English project secretary.

Mrs. Francine Weinbaum, teacher of Senior and Junior English.

Mrs. Charlene Tibbetts, Unique sponsor and teacher of English II and III, hurries to class.

In a student conference, Mrs. Gwen Swanson, teacher of Subfreshman English, helps one of her students.

Mr. Clifford W. Tremblay, teacher of Math II and III.

Mr. Allen H. Holmes explains a mathematical equation.

math

The Math department is working towards completion of two projects started in 1962. One of these involves a vector geometry course. The other includes materials prepared for "culturally deprived" junior high schools in large cities.

Mrs. Beverly M. Wilson teaches her freshman math class.

Miss Aileen K. H. Aizawa looks up from grading her sub math papers.

Mr. O. R. Brown Jr., student council sponsor, looks through an old U'N'I.

Dr. Martin S. Wolfe, chairman of the Math department, relaxes during a noon hour.

physical education

The aims of the Physical Education Department are to develop physical fitness, to increase performance skills, and to develop knowledge and appreciation of various activities as a participant or a spectator.

Coach Arden Crawford, Athletic Director, Varsity Basketball Coach, boys' P.E. instructor and U-Club sponsor.

Mr. Ken Olson, boys' P.E. instructor, Cross Country and Track coach.

Mr. Ronald Bole, Junior Varsity Basketball Coach, assistant Cross Country coach and boys' P.E. teacher.

Mr. Orrin Gould talks to a member of his Subfreshman science.

Mr. Jack Easley, chairman of the Science department, grades some of his Subfreshman Science class papers.

science

The Science department has changed its approach to Science on the Subfreshman level. This year's subs are taking a semester in Chemistry as well as Biology to enable them to better understand the units they will have in future years. The Physics students work at their own speed through the PSSC program and tests are given to individuals as they progress through the course. Each of the members of the Biology class taught in different areas for about a week.

Mr. Wallace looks over some Biology lab books.

Mr. Jenkins checks his office box before going to teach his chemistry class.

Mr. Ashenfelter conducts an experiment for his Chemistry class. He also teaches Physics.

Miss Elizabeth Kendzior prepares her lesson plans for her Science I class.

Mrs. Ellen Johnson prepares lessons for her Social Studies II and III classes.

Miss Ella C. Leppert, chairman of the Social Studies department and teacher of U.S. History and Economics, emphasizes a point for her Social Studies II and III classes.

social studies

The Social Studies department has been preparing curricula for schools participating in the project for gifted youth. A select group of students attended a conference in Roxanna, Illinois and met with other students of participating schools. The discussion was primarily an evaluation of the Social Studies curriculum. Miss Leppert, the department head, hopes to have other conferences of a similar nature.

Mrs. Carol Stack, teacher of U.S. History discusses lesson plans with the teacher of Social Studies II, Mrs. Billie Jean Isbell.

Mr. Evans R. Mank, sophomore class sponsor, clarifies a point for his subfreshman Social Studies class.

Mrs. Jackie Howell, Social Studies project secretary.

Mr. Roland F. Payette, sponsor of the subfreshman class, discusses plans for his subfreshman Social Studies class on the phone.

Mrs. Joan Irwin, head librarian and member of staff advisory, arranges some new books on the shelf.

Stuart Rich, John Geanakoplos, and Louis Steinberg spend some time reading the latest magazines.

Mrs. Margaret Landolt, library assistant, rearranges the bookshelves.

Joan Sharpe, sophomore, uses the card catalog for reference material.

library

The Uni High Library serves as a place for quiet study for all of its students. The library also provides a room where students may use reference materials and listen to records.

staff advisory

Staff Advisory consists of a group of teachers that are elected by the faculty. They recommend and approve all student sponsored activities. This year's staff advisory appointed a committee, which met last summer, to recommend a school-policy, but no action has been taken.

Mr. Raymond Wilsky, day janitor.

Mrs. Georgia Roussin, office receptionist.

Mrs. Florence Carson, main office secretary.

cross country

Uni's Cross Country Team staged another successful season this year with three returning lettermen. Captain Phil Matthews led the harriers through their season to a 11-1 record. Their only loss was to Rantoul by a slim point. Uni placed fifth in the district meet at the end of the season.

Richard Goldhor finishes strong in a triangular meet at the south farms.

John Messman relaxes after a meet.

At the pep assembly, five of the starters receive a hand of encouragement for the season.

basketball

Though seriously hampered by injuries, this year's Illineks fought fiercely for many very close games. The incomplete win-loss record is as follows:

UNI		OPPONENTS
44	Brocton-Redmond	46 L
42	Potomac	66 L
81	Mansfield	62 W
54	Wapella	51 W

varsity

The Uni High basketball team was hindered this year by a lack of experience and an inability to develop a standard starting line-up. There were no returning lettermen and the team was hampered by the injuries of Paul Bloomer and Jim Costello. Outgoing seniors; co-captains Bill Marks and Jim Costello, Paul Bloomer, Bob Baumann and Mark Garrigus should be praised for working hard to create a presentable team. Prospects for next year are a little more hopeful.

j.v. basketball

With a new coach and some tall Freshmen and Sophomores the Junior Varsity squad had a building season this year. It was a year mainly of preparation for next year's varsity squad. Coach Bole's Junior Illineks won about ½ of their games.

events

orientation

The Orientation program this year was very successful in acquainting the new students with life at Uni Hi. The committee and its chairman Lynn Weisel, met last spring to plan this year's events. On September 7th, the new students with their sponsors, attended the Orientation picnic at Illini Grove. The committee also sponsored the school tour and activities assembly, to familiarize the new students with Uni. The Howdy Hop and the student-faculty tea finished off the first week of school.

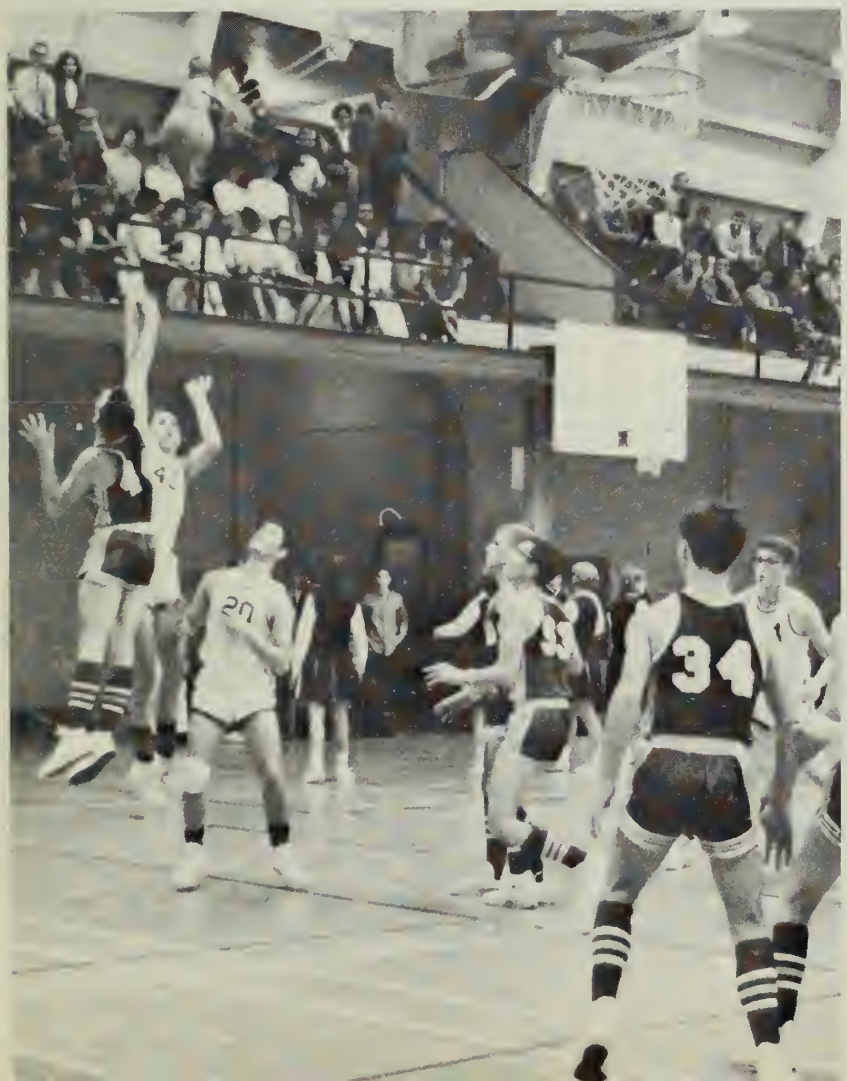
basketball

This year, the student body voted to change the school nickname from Buckeyes to the present nickname, Illineks. With only two returning lettermen, the Illineks incorporated a freshman, Tom Stamps, who is now in the Varsity's starting lineup. Most of the Varsity's games have been lost by 10 points or less, whereas the Junior Varsity has won most of its games easily.



v.b. tourney

The annual G.A.A. Volleyball Tournament was held in December. In addition to the traditional class teams, each class had a B team, so that more people could play. The seniors won both the A and B tournaments, with each team compiling a perfect 4 and 0 record.

dark of the moon

The winter play "Dark of the Moon" by Berney and Richardson, was presented February 10th and 11th in the Gregory Hall theatre. The play was written as a Masters Thesis and was presented several years ago by Uni Hi. The plot is based on the ballad of "Barbra Allen" and took place in the Smoky Mountains.

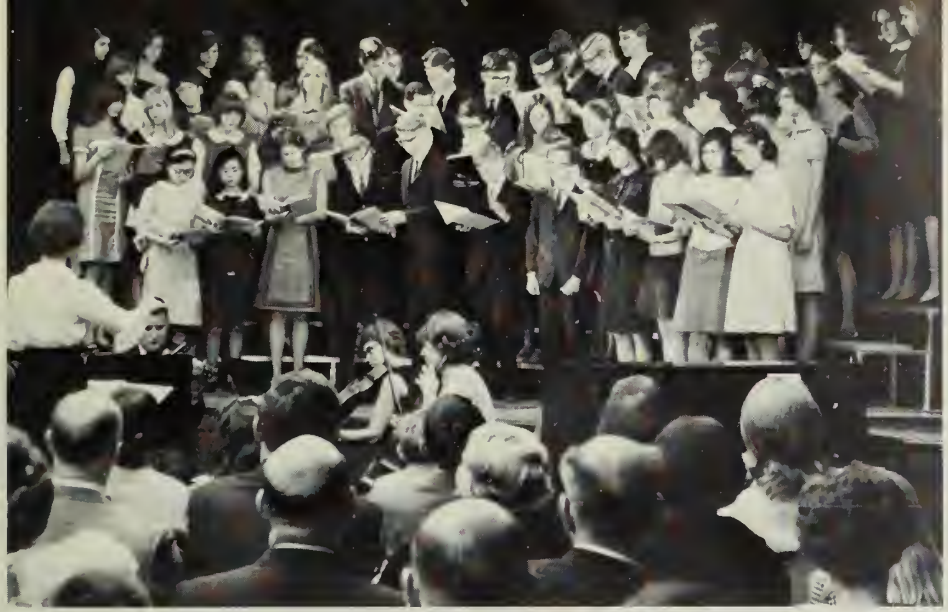
ONE HORSE
OPEN SLEIGH



Mixed Chorus performed Schubert's Mass in G, at the annual Christmas Choral Concert.

Boys' Ensemble presented some English Christmas carols.

christmas

Christmas at Uni is most notably marked by the faculty "Surprise Party." In spite of the fact that it is placed on the calendar well ahead of time, many new students are surprised. Besides this tradition, Christmas is the choral concert. The highlight of this year's concert was Schubert's Mass in G, presented by the mixed chorus while the rest of the musical groups performed Christmas music.

New to this year's concert was the Subfreshman Recorder Ensemble.

The basketball games around Christmas provide a chance for Uni's graduates who have returned home, to socialize.

Julius Cohen, a noted music critic attended the choral concert.

tri-hi dance

The Tri-High Dance sponsored by the Tri-High Council was held on February 4th, in the mall at Lincoln Square. Each of the three high schools elected a queen that was announced at the dance. Uni's nominees were L to R: Linnea Langebartel, Terry Schroeder, Valerie Genise, Becky Thompson, and Bridget Little. Above is Valerie Genise with her escort, Jess Dixon, during the coronation ceremonies.

The traditional sub basketball team was revived this year after four years of absence, by Coach Olson. The Young Varsity Illineks had a 2 and 2 record in their first year against bigger teams. The Y.V.I. squad members are first row L to R; Bill Weisel, John Geanakoplos, Bruce Hamm, David Reyes-Guerra, Mike Terwilliger and Russell Hogan. Second row: Coach Ken Olsen, Richard Lazarus, Jon Singer, Martin Beberman, Richard Klein, Tim Austin, Tod Satterthwaite and Kevin Squire, manager.

Uni Hi was fortunate this year to be able to arrange a student exchange with Blue Mound H.S. The visitors and their hosts were L to R: Jeanne Bowman, Rita Hoppe, Karen Hartwig and Mima Broadbent.

class history

Remember sub year? Everyone was quiet–for the first day . . then it began . . . . the girls decided to become athletic and join GAA–Mary's bubbles were enormous . . . . we were introduced to the wonderful English program, with its shrdlus, poetry contests, and screaming teachers . . . . toward Christmas we were really moving . . we had our first class party . . everyone starred in a film by pretending to take an exam . . when the orchestra was ready to play at the Christmas Concert, Mary and Linnea had disappeared, were the cokes good? . . . . at the end of the year the female superiority was proven –the girls wanted a picnic and the boys a dance, so . . the girls showed in grubby clothes.

We became freshmen, with a place other than rock bottom . . . . that was the year of Mr. Hecht and science projects (Lynn's rats REFUSED to become pregnant) . . the inevitable fights with Lucy Ellens that some of us ate off the floor . . we even entered the Science Fair in Bloomington at 70 miles per hour, half off the road . . funny how chips of plastic in a petri dish can win a prize . . . . we had the best class parties . . musical chairs and yoyo contests and Beatle wigs . . . . and a wonderful masquerade party for the school . . . . we were entranced with Janny's hootnannies . . . . and when spring came, some of us caught spring fever and spent our time in certain condemned houses.

We made it into sophomore year . . . . many brave souls struggled in Mr. Zesche's Biology class . . everything was mickey-mouse and we wrote innumerable epitaphs for the dead crawdad . . . . Where's Von Dutch? . . . . Care Week came and we were sold into slavery with our garters . . the boys with legs like girls' sold very fast . . . . we regaled ourselves with spin-the-bottle at Wetmore parties . . . . EUREKA . . . . the best Spring Fling ever was put on . . the Land of OZ . . complete with a yellow brick road and chalk flowers that rubbed off the walls . . . . some took Summer Economics and skateboarded down the halls of Commerce West.

Junior year was the year of the Junior-Senior feud . . it extended to such things as the Jack of Hearts . . . . drivers licenses appeared through the aid of Karafotas and Crom . . . . Bridget . . . . goldfish appeared in the toilets . . . . perfume appeared in lockers . . . . our Carnival for Care Week was fantastic . . someone in the water balloon throw forgot her dry clothes and resorted to a towel . . . . term papers were dragged out of most of us . . . . Burger King grew rich . . . . our best events were the Christmas Dance and Prom . . Prom was beautiful.

Senior year came very suddenly . . it was sad in the beginning with hate and jealous groups . . . . we t.p.'d a certain car . . . . the girls showed their coordination in co-ed volleyball by beating the Juniors for the first time ever . . . . Mrs. Unzicker gave a party for her French students . . in a trailer? . . the 3 tablespoons of rum in the cake proved to be too much for some people . . . . SENIOR POWER . . . . We had claim to fame in having the champion milk-drinker among us . . . . we struggled through ACT's and SAT's . . . . applications were made out . . . . a few got accepted in December . . . . Mr. Maw became the beloved of a few . . . . there were nicotine fits during basketball practice . . . . life went on and colleges replied.

Must we leave?
